

WALL ST. STOCK REPORTS.

Bears Make a Combined Raid on Richmond Terminal.

The Bank Statement Causes a Decline All Round.

Union Pacific Fell Off Half a Point in the Trading.

A fierce attack on Richmond Terminal chilled the bullish ardor in the stock market at the opening, but the decline outside of Richmond was insignificant. According to published statements three of the leading companies composing the Terminal will show a deficit of $170,000 for the year ended June 30, 1891, while their debt in the mean time has risen $1,700,000. This report caused a break of 1/4 to 1/2 per cent. in the securities of the company, the common declining 1/2 to 1/2 to 1/2 per cent. The report also caused a break of 1/4 to 1/2 per cent. in the securities of the company, the common declining 1/2 to 1/2 to 1/2 per cent.

There was a sudden jump in pipe line certificates at the stock exchange this morning from 77 1/2 to 78. At the Consolidated Exchange certificates which closed at 52 1/2 last night jumped to 70 1/2. The rally was credited to the Standard Oil interests, who were also responsible for the recovery to 50.

The banks suffered a moderate loss in both specie and legal tenders this week, and as a result the surplus reserve is down $1,000,000. They now hold $18,400,000 in excess of the 20 per cent. legal requirement.

HOMELESS AND ONLY THREE.

A Pretty Baby Boy Sent Adrift with a Small Wardrobe.

His Name is Freddy and He Was Found in a Ferry-House.

It must have torn the heartstrings of the mother of the handsome, hazel-eyed little fellow who sits all day long in Matron Travers's sky-parlor at Police Headquarters, with a hungry, wistful look on his face, to have abandoned him so cruelly as he did.

FREDDY.

But the pain of his mother's heart will be lessened by the pleasure which will follow when she knows he is comfortable and well fed and has an easy couch to rest upon at night.

All the little chap would say this morning to an EVENING WORLD reporter was, "My name is Freddy."

He was found in the waiting-room of the Long Island ferryhouse, at the foot of East Thirty-fourth street, Thursday evening, by Policeman Meyers, of the East Thirty-fifth street station. He was quiet enough and clinging persistently to a small bundle wrapped up in ordinary brown paper.

Even though his dark, chubby cheeks, with the true Castilian tint in them, were stained with dust and red and swollen from weeping, Freddy was not crying out loud. He was sitting there sobbing quietly when found.

The policeman took him to Matron Travers and looked the bundle over. It contained his small stock of clothing. Then the people experienced in such things knew it was another case of an abandoned child.

Freddy is about three years old and of ordinary size for that age. He was clad in a blue and white striped outfit, a pair of blue pants, blue stockings and blue shoes.

There is very little doubt that the helpless child was deliberately abandoned. That he is the child of very poor parents is borne out by the cheapness of his clothing.

CORONA'S RIOTERS SUBDUED.

Five Arrests Made and the O'Neils Are Still Unharmd.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) NEWTON, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Quiet reigns in Corona this morning. The attempt of the White Caps to force Patrick and William O'Neill to leave the place, which was attended with so much excitement, seems to be abandoned.

The police authorities of the township of Newton, of which Corona forms a part, have determined that the public peace shall not be disturbed. The constables who were on guard at the railroad station all night did not go home until 2 o'clock this morning.

Justice Howard has ordered the constables to report for duty at Corona again this evening, as he is of the opinion that trouble might arise.

As a result of the fight Thursday evening between the White Caps and the O'Neils, five men have been arrested and placed under $250 bail each for examination by the grand jury.

Constable William Jenkins went to Flushing at midnight and arrested William O'Neill, Edward Carroll, William Carroll and George Townsend.

They are said to be the men who tried to take down the office of the Mount Vernon Hotel. They were in the lockup in Newton for several hours before their friends came to their appearance to-morrow.

The elder O'Neill left for New York last night.

SECRETARY GREENER ON TOP.

His $2,400 Salary Restored by Friendly Grant Monument Trustees.

Richard T. Greener, the colored secretary of the Grant Monument Fund Trustees, was reinstated on his salary by the Executive Committee of the Board some time ago.

He was getting $2,400 a year, which was taken down by the office of the Mount Vernon Hotel. He was reinstated on his salary by the Executive Committee of the Board some time ago.

Mr. Greener believed that it was only a small clique in the Board which was opposed to his holding office and that the Mount Vernon Hotel was the only obstacle to his holding office.

Mr. Greener now laughs at his enemies, and has closed up the office of the Mount Vernon Hotel. He has taken a vacation in the country at the expense of the subscribers.

It is said that the next meeting will be more fully attended, and that Greener's salary may be again restored.

ROBBERY SOBERED HIM.

Deckhand Klushes Pursued the Man Who Had His Watch.

George Klushes, a dock hand on the steamboat Plymouth, who had been sighted, went to the boat in a rather shaky condition at 1 o'clock this morning, when he met a first watchman, William Farrington, at Cortlandt and Washington streets.

He says Farrington watched his watch and saw Klushes, who pursued him, crying "Police!" Officer Kelly captured Farrington, who was held.

THREE STRUCK BY A TRAIN.

Fatal Crossing Accident on the New Jersey Central Road.

(SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.) ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 8.—At 9 o'clock this morning Max Levinson, Abram Hanson and Robert Blum, hucksters, were driving to Newark market, crossing the tracks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey in this city. When their wagon was struck by a train.

The vehicle was demolished. Levinson's skull was fractured and he is lying at the hospital. Hanson had one leg badly mangled, and Blum escaped with slight bruises.

The men live at Elizabethport.

PLANNED SUICIDE YEAR AGO.

Broker Campbell Was Suspended by the Consolidated Exchange.

Prospect Park's Self-Murderer Well Known on Wall Street.

Norman Campbell, the Consolidated Exchange stock broker, chose a queer place in which to end his life.

He went out to the children's playground in Prospect Park, and, sitting down on a bench, watched the tennis players for more than two hours.

Then he took a revolver from his pocket and deliberately blew out his brains, right in the midst of a romping throng of innocent children.

Campbell was fifty-eight years old and lived at 170 South Oxford street, Brooklyn, with his wife, two sons and a daughter. He had an office at 60 Broadway in this city.

Although his family did not know it, it appears he had been contemplating suicide for more than a year, for this note was found in a letter and pocket-sewn envelope: "My last wish and request to my wife is that I be cremated with a broken heart."

NORMAN CAMPBELL, 170 South Oxford street.

May 3, 1900. "My family say that they will not carry out his request to be cremated, but that arrangements have been made to be buried in the usual way."

Campbell was a fine looking man, rather bald, and wore a gray mustache. He had been a member of the Consolidated Exchange since its organization, and was formerly a member of the National Petroleum Board.

When he came to this city he had considerable wealth, but a year ago he failed, and up to the time of his death had not been able to settle his balances at the Consolidated Exchange, where he had a long and arduous career.

He was well known and liked by the brokers, and at one time he was a member of the Board of Directors of the Exchange and Secretary of the Clearing House.

He was at the Exchange only three days ago, and at that time seemed to be in a hopeful frame of mind, although it is said that he had a great deal of trouble at home.

Campbell shot himself at 4 o'clock and was found by a janitor, who called the police. He was a member of the Lodge No. 345, F. & M. of East N. Y. One of his sons is a clerk in a Wall Street office.

SHE KICKED THE DOCTOR OUT.

Woman Reformer's Lively Fracas with a Boston Physician.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) LYNN, MASS., Aug. 8.—Mrs. Lizzie F. Dodge, Secretary of the Essex County Helping and Society, and a well-known reformer, was this morning publicly beat Dr. R. S. Andrews, a well-known medical practitioner of the city.

Stories derogatory to Mrs. Dodge have been in circulation for some time, and she traced them, she alleges, to Dr. Andrews.

This morning she saw Andrews enter a printing office and followed him, blowing up by banging his head against the brick wall. Dr. Andrews attempted to escape, but the angry woman gave chase and kicked him through the printing office, following him to the street.

Andrews, at once went home, while Mrs. Dodge surrendered to the City Marshal. She was allowed to go, however, as no complaint was made.

Mrs. Dodge is a middle-aged woman. Dr. Andrews is a young man, and a member of the Baptist Church and Andrews takes a great interest in the work of the Washington Street Baptist Society.

BEAT HER HUSBAND'S GAME.

Thomas Turner's Wife Spills His South Dakota Divorce.

Thomas Turner, a wealthy horse-owner of Astoria, N. C., formerly of York and Brooklyn, has had the tables nicely turned on him by his wife, Henrietta, who lives at 382 Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn.

Turner went to Minneapolis, N. Dak., in May last for the purpose of getting a divorce. He had a long and arduous career, and then from social organizations to which no one but wealthy people were admitted.

The woman's letter convention elected these officers: National President, Mrs. Sue A. C. Lee; Vice-President, Mrs. J. C. Lee; Secretary, Margaret R. Wiggins; Treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Lee; and a number of other officers.

Turner is said to have now dropped his own suit, and is now in the hands of the law. He is now in the hands of the law.

RAIDED BY GIRL THIEVES.

This Opulent Celestial Ran Up Against Three of a Kind.

Sam Lee, an opulent Celestial, runs several laundries in different parts of the city, the principal one being at 82 Oliver street, and an experience with female thieves which called for his presence in the Tombs court today.

Three girls called at Sam Lee's Oliver street laundry last night and stole a number of ladies' collars, cuffs and handkerchiefs. Sam Lee himself was not so terrified that he ran out the door and called the police.
